FROM OUR STANDPOINT.

EVENING LETTERS, PLEASE!

With national and local references to the Post Office made during the past few days we are heartily agreed.

A return to the Penny Post was among the reforms urged at the autumn conference of the National Chamber of Trade; and Mr. J. Hinde, M.P., one of the Government Whigs, in seconding the adoption of the report of the Board of Management at the Traders' Conference at Bath, said that there were looking forward, with the increased income of the State, to the time when Sir Kingsley Wood would be brave enough to suggest to the Chancellor of the Exchequer that, in the interests of trade and commerce generally, a return to the penny post and the penny telegram was desirable.

At Worthing the Mayor, paying a civic visit to the telephone exchange in connection with the last evening delivery, said that he would like to see the day when we should have penny postage and penny telegrams again. Locally, he said, he would like to see the late evening delivery letters, because many Worthing residents had to leave for London early in the morning before their letters were received. With all these hopes and aspirations on the one hand, and the fact that we would particularly draw attention to the Mayor's suggestion of later letters, which is a matter for the local administration rather than Whitehall.

The Bench imposed a fine of £3.

'TWIXT YOU AND ME

Novel "Druids" Idea : The Mayor's Kisses :

E. V. Lucas Revisits Worthing

THE HOSPITAL BALL.

The Annual Hospital Ball, which is always the last social function arranged by the Mayor and Mayoresses before their term of office expires, is to be held in the Pier Pavilion on Friday, November 2nd, and, as was stated in certain quarters, it is the same as that of the small boy to define an elephant—it's something that it is not easy to define, but you know it when you see one?

ROTARIAN MAYORS.

Three Rotarians who have served Worthing in the office of Mayor—Mr. C. B. Cook (for many years in Aldermere (Loughborough) and Aldermere W. T. Frost and F. A. Watts—were present at the Mayor's meeting of the Worthing Rotary Club when President Sidney Wray congratulated Rotarian G. B. Bennett upon the invitation that he had received to succeed Alderman H. T. Duffell as Mayor.

THE FIRST POST!

No one recalled—and in any case it was hardly the time or the place to mention it—that a Rotarian who formerly figured very largely in local Rotary circles, and who has always been an enthusiastic community worker (a family trait, by the way), once twitted a Rotarian Mayor, located in the town—meaning, of course, the Mayor—when he might reasonably have aspired to "the first" or, in other words, the Presidency of the Rotary Club.

135 YEARS AFTER.

In the last issue of the Sunday Times a column was devoted to an article on "A Sussex Treasury" by Mr. E. V. Lucas, whose "Highways and Byways in Sussex" is by way of being a standard work on the county. It is a pity that the fact that Princess Amelia "alighted" upon Worthing towards the end of the eighteenth century, Mr. Lucas remarked that a "hundred and thirty-five years later" (reviewing the town) he perceived—was he here himself: He went on:

"A NETWORK OF STREETS."

"I was bewildered by the changes which suddenly burst upon the traveller from London as he left the London Valley and entered the Sussex Downs. The road was now actually under the slope of Chichester. That quiet seafront where Colonel Wodehouse lived among his trees is now a network of streets. Broadwater, an isolated village beside the Green, is now a part of the great spreading town. And again I asked myself the question that forces itself wherever estates are being feverishly developed and ultra-modern residences are offered for sale. Where now are the living people who, directly these houses are ready, or a little later, will live in the town?"

OUR LIBRARIAN'S END CURATOR.

Reference to the minutes of the meeting of the Worthing Archaeological Society last night to Miss Marian Frost, Worthing's Librarian and Curator, who until she was recently was the Honorary Secretary of the Archaeological Society, the following comments by Mr. Lucas come at a very appropriate time. He went on to write:

UNIQUE RESOURCES.

"There must, I feel sure, be good reasons for setting in at near Worthing. One is the impression that it is a happy town, and the certainty that it is a healthy one. I am told by a resident that the necessities of life are cheaper there than anywhere else in the South of England. It is a town which bestows upon it would be conferred, not because of its good humour, its air or food, but because of its unique resources of peculiar interest to itself."

A FEMININE OPTIMIST.

Magistrate to complaining wife at Worthing Petty Sessions: You took him for the worst, didn't you?

Wife: But I didn't expect him to turn out for the worse, sir!

THE TRIFLER.

Charge of Stealing a Car.

SAW IT STANDING IN STREET.

YOUNG MAN'S STRANGE BEHAVIOUR.

A Brighton man, Duncan Connor, who was said to have suffered from sleeping sickness as a child, was brought up on remand at Worthing Police Court yesterday on a charge of stealing a car and a quantity of petrol, valued at £155, at Worthing on October 10th. There was a second charge of driving the car away without the owner's consent.

William John, of the West Lodge, Windsor Road, Worthing, the owner of the car, said he left it standing in Worthing on the day when he went to it later it was gone. He did not see it again until it was shown to him by the police, and it had then been driven 140 miles more than when he last used it.

Fair-constable Groves said that in Brighton road he saw, being driven from the direction of Brighton, a car which answered the description of one reported as having been stolen. He stopped it and said to the accused, who was driving it, "What are you doing with this car?" He replied, "I suppose you know I have pinched it."

ACCUSED'S STATEMENT.

Witness ordered him to drive to the Police Station, where he made a statement to the effect that he came to Worthing by train from Brighton to see a girl with whom he had been friendly. He telephoned to her from the Railway Station, but she refused to take any notice, and as he left the Station he saw the car and drove it to the shop where he "fed up" and drove back to Worthing, where he was stopped.

A lady, who said she had cared for the accused since he was a baby, said she suffered from sleeping sickness when a child, and still had occasional attacks. All his employers had spoken well of him as a workman, but he had lost a finger in an accident and, as a result, was now out of work.

SUPERINTENDENT'S SUGGESTION.

Superintendent Bristow said that Connor chopped off his finger because his girl would not marry him. He suggested that if the defendant could be fined, so that he would have to work in order and pay, it would keep his mind occupied and be a very good thing for him.

The Bench imposed a fine of £3.

The Last Night.

AU REVOIR TO "RADIO MIRROR."

A VERY SUCCESSFUL SEASON ENDS.

The usual amount of enthusiasm which marks the last night of a resident concert party in Worthing was generated last Saturday evening by an audience which numbered between 40 and 50 short of a record. Boxes of chocolates from the Corporation and numerous bouquets and baskets of fruit and flowers from friends and admirers were handed up on to the stage for the lady members of the company at the end of the evening, and for the first time the Orchestra there were boxes of cigarettes from the Corporation as well as sundry personal gifts.

Mr. Jack Allen, the popular producer, whose appearance on the stage was the signal for applause, received from the Corporation a combined attack and writing case from the members of the band, a triple-comparted cigarette box. The Mayor made the cigarette presentations, and the company's vigils were handed to Mr. Allen by Leonard Henry.

Not all of the individual gifts were of the conventional kind. For example, Clarence Wright received a live tortoise and an equally live pigeon. The latter was presented to him without a facetious remark from Leonard Henry. "You can't say now, Clarence, that you have never received 'the bird,' can you?"

THE COMMITTEE'S THANKS.

In introducing the Mayor, the Chairman of the Entertainment Committee (Councillor W. G. Tree) said that night marked the end of another very successful concert party season in Worthing, and he pressed their best thanks to all who had helped anything to do with the production of "Radio Mirror." He thought the Committee had been very fortunate to secure Mr. Jack Allen, who, with the assistance of that very popular artist, Leonard Henry, had been responsible for the production. He was not divulging a secret when he admitted that the Committee had had some doubts as to how successful a change of producer would prove, but the whole party had worked together well and the season had been a very successful one not only from the entertainment but also from the financial viewpoint. Mr. Allen had told him that he personally was perfectly satisfied with the result, and he could assure him that the Entertainment Committee were equally satisfied.

He wished to thank, in addition to the producer and the company, the Musical Director, Dr. J. A. Hevel, the members of the Municipal Orchestra, and the Entertainments Manager, Mr. F. H. Cooper.

INCREASED COMPETITION.

Acknowledging the expression of thanks, Mr. Jack Allen said that he was very glad that the venture had turned out such a success, more especially in view of the increased competition with which the company was given him throughout the season. Mr. Cooper and his staff for their collaboration, Dr. Hevel and the Orchestra staff behind the stage when the audience did not see but whose work was of such importance, and last, but by no means least, the audiences who had supported them so admirably.

Before making the presentations, the Mayor added his tribute to "Radio Mirror," he said, had proved to be one of the best companies they had ever seen in the Pavilion, and he hoped that every member of the Company would take away with them happy memories of their stay in "Sunny Worthing."

AT THE THEATRE.

The True Ben Travers Sparkle.

"TURKEY TIME" AT THE CONNAUGHT.

"Turkey Time," the Ben Travers farce, which the Connaught Theatre Repertory Company are presenting this week, must surely be among the most delicious things ever tackled by the famous Aldwych farce writers. The dialogue, full of Ben Travers sparkle, ripples on at such a pace that Monday night's audience at the Connaught seemed to have some difficulty in coming up for breath between laughs!

To the innate worth of the script is added a really fine interpretation of the Connaught company, with Simon Fraser in particular scoring a great success in the part of David Watkinson. Simon Fraser, as an all-Worthing and a much wider field—known by now, on play dramatic and emotional roles as well as anybody, but perhaps it is in "silly" parts that he is most popular. As a young man, engaged to the daughter of a most respectable household, who undertakes a little knight-errand on behalf of a young actress in distress, with resulting complications, he does some of the best work that he has ever given in this type of role.

A MOURNFUL LITTLE MAN.

By contrast with the high spirits of David Watkinson, the mournful beatings of a prospective father-in-law throw the audience into greater relief, and this typical Robertson Harp part is wonderfully well played by Hugh Cresswell. It is to these two players in particular that much of the success of the Connaught's production is due.

Diana Caird makes a very vigorous and determined woman of David's prospective mother-in-law. Vernon Mordaunt plays the part of Max Wheeler, London Times gives another of her rich characterizations. A landlady, and mention should also be made of F. Payne Palmer's wonderfully well maintained character study as the old maid, Miss Mordaunt.

Others in the cast are Janet Morton (as the actress), Patricia Waring, Rosemary Francis, Elsie Shelton and Harriet Merica.

GALSWORD NEXT WEEK.

Next week the Connaught company are offering their first Galsworthy production "The Skin Game," perhaps the best known of all the dramatist's works and which was recently broadcast.

Another announcement which reflects the opportunity afforded by Mr. Charles Bell and Mr. Simon Fraser's management of the Connaught, is that they have secured for presentation the very moving "Sunny in Wales," which is the story of a man who was first produced at the Lyric Theatre in London a few months ago.

SOUTHERN PIER PAVILION STEEL WORK.

There is to be no further under delay with the work of reconstructing the Southern Pier Pavilion. The "Gazette" learns that the tender of Messrs. Evers, of Lewes, for the steel work has been accepted by the Town Council, and that under the contract part of the scheme is to be completed within six weeks.

STREET FIGHTING LAST NIGHT

SEQUEL TO FASCIST MEETING AT PAVILION
VISIT OF SIR OSWALD MOSLEY
MAN TAKEN TO HOSPITAL : BLACKSHIRT ARRESTED

There were remarkable scenes on the Front at Worthing, and in South-street and Warwick-street, late last night, after a meeting organised by the British Union of Fascists and addressed by Sir Oswald Mosley in the Pier Pavilion. The meeting was very orderly, but a large crowd gathered outside the Pavilion and the appearance of Sir Oswald led to the breaking out of a series of free fights.

One man had to be removed to hospital, and the police took into custody a Blackshirt, against whom a charge was preferred at Worthing Petty Sessions this morning. All available members of the Police Force—day as well as night duty men—were called out.

A great sensation was caused in the town earlier in the day, when it was discovered that during the previous night some-one had written in tar on the walls of the Town Hall. "No more war. Damn Mosley. Fight Fascism." Tar was also spread over the Fascist Area Headquarters at 27, Marine-parade.

CHEERS AND CAT-CALLS.

LARGE CROWD DEMONSTRATES ON THE FRONT.

The meeting in the Pavilion was orderly throughout, but outside a large and steadily gathering, giving vent to cheers and cat-calls and throwing fireworks. This, however, seemed much more than an inhibition of high spirits! Also somebody knocked persistently at the side doors of the Pavilion, and one of two Blackshirts, who were acting as stewards, but the majority preferred to ignore the interruption.

At the end of the meeting, Sir Oswald Maudslayi Mosley, and the great body of the crowd remained inside the Pavilion, while the crowd outside, now estimated at thousands, were singing "Poor Old Mosley's got the wind up," to the tune of "John Brown's Body." A line was kept from the Pavilion steps to Marine-parade, but as the Blackshirts passed along it was a good deal of jostling by the crowd; and the appearance of free fights on the Esplanade between Blackshirts and members of the crowd. The approach of the police, however, had the effect of causing the crowd to stop fighting and begin again! One man was taken out of the crowd by the police.

FIGHTING STARTS.
Sir Oswald and his "bodyguard" crossed Marine-parade to Barnes' Cafe, where they remained for some time. One body of Fascists then left the cafe and headed off towards the Pavilion, but the police intervened and a large section of the crowd went with them.

The situation here seemed to be getting worse, and the Police were strengthened. Sir Oswald and his bodyguard marched up and down Warwick-street, apparently attempting to clear the road, but the crowd continued, and the police had to take one man—not a Blackshirt—to hospital, suffering, it is understood, from a badly cut face that necessitated stitching.

OPPOSITION TO GRANT FROM GENERAL RATE.
The question of the principle of making a contribution from the general rate towards the special expenses of sewerage projects was discussed yesterday at a meeting of the Worthing Rural District Council. Mr. A. W. P. Somerset, J.P., presided.

The Finance and General Purposes Committee recommended that the principle of such a contribution should be adopted and that the matter should be further considered by the Council.

PREPARED TO PAY
Colonel H. E. Weekes, Chairman of the Council, retorted that Ferring was prepared to pay for anything that it had, in whatever form the demand came. He maintained, however, that this proposal was intended to assist all the parishes, including those that already had drainage.

After further discussion, Colonel Weekes agreed to accept an amendment deleting the words "should be adopted" and restricting the recommendation to the consideration of the proposal by the Council.
